

Plan to Make One Boy in Every Four Boy Scout Member

The Boy Scouts of America today, October 12, 1932, announced a ten-year program which has been developed as a definite contribution toward the upbuilding of American citizenship.

The program provides that at least one boy in four arriving at voting age shall have had the benefit of four years of training as a Boy Scout.

The plan, it was said, proposes an answer to a growing public demand for a generally interested body of citizens, thoroughly devoted to the promotion of the general welfare and entirely committed to the advancement of the public interest.

"It will insure more participating citizens, less violation of law, and more unselfish service for others," the announcement stated.

A copy of the program and the details of its proposed operation were received today by the Scout Executive, William A. Wright, from Dr. James E. West, the chief Scout executive. Similar communications were also received by a number of other Scout officials whose service it will be to put the plan into operation locally.

Dr. West's letter stated that the program carries the unqualified endorsement of President Hoover, who has not only followed the precedent of his predecessors in serving as honorary president of the Boy Scouts but also upon many occasions has shown an unusual interest in the development of the organization and its activities.

The president's endorsement took the form of a letter to Walter W. Head of New York, president of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Because of the evident interest of the president, Dr. West announced the establishment of a President's Award of a streamer or metal marker for the troop colors of each Boy Scout Troop which attains to a very high standard in the development of the program of citizenship growth.

A similar award, Dr. West said, will be made available for the Ulster-Greene Council in the event that it reaches a high standard of progress in relation to the program of citizenship growth. Still other awards will be available to groups of councils and to each one of the 12 Scout regions in the United States having a majority of its council win an award.

Mr. Wright said he was certain that the Ulster-Greene council would be a strong contender for council honors and that Region 2 would make a vigorous effort to attain leadership in respect to the plan.

Dr. West has pointed out that an attempt will be made to bring as many of the new boys into present Scout Troops as possible so that they shall have the benefit of the values of fellowship and experience in the existing organizations, but that it will be necessary in all probability to nearly double to $5,000 the existing Boy Scout Troops under volunteer leadership.

In the Ulster-Greene area one out of every six boys is a Scout and with the additional program it is expected to reach at least one in every four within the next 12 months.

Negro's Card Did Not Bear Out Facts

Said He Could Not Either Talk or Hear But He Had No Difficulty in Offering Explanations to Judge Culliton—Other Cases in Police Court.

The police department received a telephone call from residents of Greenhill avenue on Wednesday stating that two drunken negroes were annoying residents on that street. The police arrested Walter Lawrence and James Watson, two out of town negroes, on charges of public intoxication and lodged them in jail for the night. This morning the pair were arraigned before Judge Culliton in police court.

Watson had a card about three inches wide and six inches long which contained the following message: "I cannot either talk or hear. A liberal donation will be appreciated." This morning, however, his conduct did not bear out the facts for Watson was able both to hear and to talk fluently, but his explanation failed to satisfy the court who sentenced him to 30 days in jail. His companion, Lawrence, was sentenced to 10 days in jail.

John Robinson, 19, a negro youth of this city, who according to Sergeant Goodsell of the West Shore police force, has been in the custom of hanging around and sleeping in the West Shore railroad station, was arrested by Sergeant Goodsell. This morning he was sentenced to five days in jail. He said he had some money due him for work, but had been unable to collect it and pay his room rent.

Jesse Banks of 33 Boulevard was arrested Wednesday on a warrant sworn out by James Watson charging Banks with assault in the third degree. Banks entered a plea of not guilty and the hearing was fixed for Tuesday morning.

First Snowfall Here Wednesday

Snow flurries, the first of the season, swept over Kingston Wednesday afternoon, Columbus Day, accompanied by a high wind. During the afternoon there were several flurries in the mountain sections of the county and about 11 o'clock Wednesday evening Kingstonians witnessed the first snow of the fall.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP).—New York state's first touch of wintry weather came in last night with a cold wind from the west and flurries of snow.

The wind, registered at 54 miles an hour by canal-barge towsman at Sylvan Beach and Brewerton, sank three grain barges in Oneida Lake after ripping them from a fleet being towed across the lake.

At Buffalo, Anthony Lassen, 30, was killed when he was blown from the roof of the Lackawanna Steel plant to the ground 90 feet below.

Snow was reported at Niagara Falls, Malone, Syracuse, and Elmira. The mercury reached a new low mark for the season at most points.

Kingston's Big Store Just Out of its Teens

Twenty Years Ago Rose & Gorman Purchased From Herbert Carl the Pioneer Department Store in Ulster County—Anniversary Will Be Appropriately Celebrated Soon.

October marks the twentieth birthday of Kingston's Big Store—under the control of its present management. Twenty years ago Herbert Carl, pioneer department store owner in Ulster county, sold his business and property to E. O. Rose, A. E. Rose, and V. A. Gorman. After extensive improvements and an expansion program that made this great store one of the leading mercantile institutions in the Hudson valley, the name and style of the business was changed to Rose-Gorman-Rose. In 1927, after the death of E. O. Rose, the name was changed to Rose & Gorman, which is the present title.

In these twenty years of progress, which include a very important period in the history of the city and country, the business of the store was trebled. A large portion of the building has been rebuilt, and large extensions added until it now contains almost three acres of floor space, a new front installed and on the main floor and a complete installation of new and modern fixtures for millinery, baby shop, junior department, shoe shop, etc. The second floor was enlarged and opened up into a most complete home-furnishing section with a surprisingly large and complete assortment of furniture, carpets and draperies. The lower main floor, unique in itself, in that it has daylight on all four sides, is equipped with the most complete house-furnishing, china and glassware departments in this section. It also includes a toy section that is the envy of many larger stores. Here, also, are wallpaper, paints, and a bright new electric section, including radios, electric refrigeration, and stoves.

The parking ground with its capacity for 500 cars was a development that became necessary to keep pace with the times, and more recently the convenient elevator entrance from the parking ground has made this feature especially desirable and, a great many say, the most convenient of the Kingston parking grounds.

From an overgrown country store, Kingston's Greatest Store has developed in twenty years to a modern up-to-the-minute department store supplying countless cash customers with quality merchandise, and giving nearly five thousand charge accounts courteous service in the manner of the finest and most progressive department stores in the country.

The Twentieth Birthday Celebration will be unique and unusual and will be such that it will be long remembered. All the friends, young and old, are to be invited, and the management of the store expresses the hope that all who became familiar with the many features of this store as long as twenty years ago will make a special effort to join in the celebration.

Kingston's Big Store is known to all the folks of the Hudson valley as the store with the real home atmosphere, a place where you are always welcome and, of course, a place where it pays everyone to visit often. Kingston is truly proud of its great shopping center.

CIVIL SERVICE GETS ATTENTION OF COMMITTEE

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP).—The legislative economy committee publicly turned its attention to the state Civil Service Commission today.

As the committee began its third day of public hearings into the costs of state government, it had the tentative assurance that the Department of Agriculture and Markets will agree to economy recommendations running up to $1,500,000.

Commissioner Charles H. Baldwin of Agriculture and Markets, after two days of conference with the legislative inquirers, last night had tentatively accepted this figure, but had rejected the suggestion of the committee's experts that savings of $2,250,000 could be made.

The economies which found favor with Commissioner Baldwin are about seven times as much as the total annual appropriation of the Civil Service Commission, which will be studied today.

Schools Close Two Days

There will be no sessions of the public schools of the city next Thursday and Friday, the schools being closed to permit the teachers to attend the Teachers' Conference at Albany.

Canadians Hail New Trade Pact In Effect Today

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 13 (AP).—New preference tariffs negotiated at the recent Imperial Trade Conference here between Canada and Great Britain became effective throughout the Dominion today.

Manufacturers generally hailed the new rates in favor of Canadian-British trade as marking the first step in an arrangement which is expected to give Canada an advantage over American and other foreign competition and confine much British trade within the empire.

The new schedules cover a wide list of products, agricultural and industrial, including Canadian wheat, which will enter the United Kingdom free, while a tariff of about 4.32 cents a bushel will be levied on American and other foreign wheat.

Other Canadian agricultural products to be on the free list entering the United Kingdom, in comparison with a considerable preference over similar products from foreign countries, are flour, rye, barley, oats, peas, clover seed, hay, bran, shorts, middlings, oatmeal, apples, plums and pears.

In explaining the details of the agreement in parliament, Premier Bennett predicted substantial benefits to trade in Canadian bacon, beef, cattle, milk products, poultry and eggs.

Canada also arranged treaties with South Africa, the Irish Free State and Southern Rhodesia, some of which provide preferences on a number of important foodstuffs, forest products and manufactured goods from Canada.

Boy Did Not Know Where He Lived

Police Had Problem on Hands This Morning When 4 Year Old Boy Could Not Recall His Last Name or Where He Lived—Mother in Hospital Here.

This morning police headquarters received a telephone call from the residence of David Samuels at 15 West Chestnut street, stating that there was a little boy at the house who was lost. Officer William Leonard brought the little chap to headquarters at the city hall where attempts were made by questioning the lad to ascertain where he lived and the name of his parents.

"My name is Eugene," replied the little fellow, "and I live at 210," but he could not remember the name of the street. No one in the city hall recalled ever seeing the boy before, and it looked as though the police would have to wait a telephone call from an anxious parent seeking the child.

Eugene, however, was perfectly contented as long as Officer Leonard was in sight. He had taken a fancy to the officer and would go to no one else in the building. Eugene in reply to questions said he was four years old, but he could not remember his last name.

Finally the police received a call from the convent of Saint Anne at 287 Broadway that a little boy had strayed away from the convent this morning. The boy who had strayed away proved to be Eugene.

It was learned that the boy's mother is in a local hospital and while at the hospital had left the boy at the convent to be cared for until she recovered her health.

Eugene's full name is Eugene Don Louis and he is a Filipino, and very bright and intelligent for his years.

Senator Borah Urges Currency Expansion

Malad, Idaho, Oct. 13 (AP).—Expansion of currency, restoration of silver as a world purchasing medium and governmental economy were advocated by Senator William E. Borah in an address here last night in which he criticized the attitude of members of both major political parties toward public expenditure.

The Idaho Republican made no direct mention of any presidential candidate in the present campaign. He said, in discussing taxes and governmental costs: "When it comes to expending public money, you can not tell Republicans from Democrats."

Borah assailed demands for payment in full of the soldiers' bonus. He added that these demands were "only a part of a vast system of bureaucratic extravagance."

Verdict of $500 For Mrs. Leader

The Court Reserves Decision in a Motion to Set Aside The Verdict—Two Cases Settled—Hospital Records Ordered Brought Into Court.

A verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $500 was returned this morning in supreme court in the negligence action brought by Theresa Leader against Morris Kaplan. Mrs. Leader alleges that she fell in the store of Mr. Kaplan and suffered a broken ankle. Plaintiff testified how the accident happened and introduced a photograph of the two steps on which she fell. No other testimony was submitted bearing on the negligence of the defendant. No evidence was offered by the defendant on the theory that no negligence had been proven by plaintiff which called for any denial or any evidence.

When the jury handed up its verdict this morning A. J. Cook, counsel for plaintiff, renewed his motion made at the conclusion of plaintiff's case and asked that the verdict be set aside as no evidence of negligence had been presented. Judge Bliss reserved decision on the motion and stated that the photograph had been the only evidence submitted by the plaintiff which indicated negligence on the part of the defendant and he asked Judge Culliton, who appeared for plaintiff, if it were not true that the photograph alone was the only evidence to establish negligence. He permitted plaintiff to submit authorities on the matter to show that negligence might be shown by submission of photographs and that such photograph was sufficient evidence to establish negligence on the part of the defendant.

The replevin action brought by General Motors Acceptance Corporation against Clarence C. Dunham was continued before a jury.

A negligence action brought by Elvina Benjamin of Kingston against Maud Covert of Poughkeepsie, an action growing out of an automobile accident at Poughkeepsie, was announced as settled. Emanuel Metzger appeared for plaintiff and Ireland, Caverly & Hendrickson was attorney of record for defendant.

An action on note brought by Roy Van Etten against Davis Rosenbaum was announced as settled. M. O. Auchmoody for plaintiff and Brinley & Elsworth for defendant.

An Inquest was taken in No. 500, Clarence V. Mains against Fred Hall and James Martin and Judge Bliss at the conclusion of the case directed a verdict in favor of plaintiff and against the defendants in the sum of $154.80. Mr. Mains, a member of the Kingston fire department, testified that on April 4, last, as he was driving in Poughkeepsie toward New York a truck driven by Hall and owned by Martin crossed over the street to its left and crashed into his Nash car damaging it. Daniel Hoffman appeared for plaintiff. The action was undefended.

In three cases now in the calendar, Richard F. Lang as administrator, etc., Richard Lang, Jr., an infant by guardian and Margaret Ann Lang, an infant by guardian, against Joseph Schlachter and another Mr. Brooks who appeared for the plaintiffs stated that he would be ready to go to trial if he could examine the hospital records. The doctor involved in the case he stated was out of the state and the hospital refused to allow an examination of the hospital records without the doctor's presence. Mr. Brooks informed the court that if he could examine the hospital records he probably could have another physician testify instead of the doctor who is now outside the jurisdiction of the court. He asked for a court order directing the hospital to permit examination of the hospital records. Judge Bliss directed that the records be subpoenaed forthwith into court so that they might be inspected by Mr. Brooks.

There was further action in the case of William W. Van Keuren of the Saugerties road against New York Central Railroad, an action for assault. F. E. W. Darrow appeared for Mr. Van Keuren and asked that certain portions of the answer be stricken out as sham. The court directed the application. The action grows out of an alleged assault by a railroad police officer.

Hoover Urges Bar To Defend Country

Washington, Oct. 13 (AP).—Members of the American Bar Association have been summoned by President Hoover "to defend our system of government against reckless assaults by desecrating persons."

This message was given them last night when Mr. Hoover addressed a large gathering of the law profession in Constitution Hall at a special session of the 55th annual meeting of the association. The president said:

"It is your task to prove again what none knows better than you, that the very citadel of the rights of the poor against the oppression of the rulers and against the extortions of the rapacious is the judicial system of the country, and that the tripartite apex of that system is the Supreme Court of the United States."

President Hoover was presented by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes. As he entered the chamber with Mrs. Hoover, and Guy A. Thompson of St. Louis, president of the association, he was greeted with applause by an audience estimated at 3,000. Several times his address was interrupted by hand-clapping and at the conclusion he acknowledged prolonged applause by arising a second time from his seat.

Col. Donovan To "Just Meet Folks"

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP).—Colonel William J. Donovan, Republican gubernatorial nominee, plunged into his first really strenuous schedule of campaigning today with a plan of "just meet the folks."

He outlined the plan during his stay at home yesterday, saying that he expected to win more votes by informal meetings and chats than he could with carefully prepared political addresses delivered in carefully prepared settings. He also said that he intended "to be myself in this campaign, win, lose or draw."

Last night he addressed the Women's Columbian League of Buffalo at a banquet to pay tribute to Christopher Columbus. He made no reference to political issues or to his candidacy, but called the present year "the most critical in our history since the Civil War."

"What we determine this year politically," he said, "may determine our future in the years to come. And these problems that we must face have got to be faced only in our sober second thought and not in those feelings that arise out of discontent or fear or panic."

The candidate's itinerary today provided for short meetings at Dunkirk, Fredonia, Brockton, Westfield, and Mayville. He will speak at Jamestown tonight and then proceed on to Olean to stay overnight.

Milton D. Cohn, a song leader, joined the party in Buffalo.

In the morning the gas was gone and nothing else was missing.

At the next Oklahoma town, the harrowing experience was repeated. One Texan, by his own admission, stayed in the car at the second stop only to be mistaken as the "get away" man while his companion "did the job" inside.

Car Refused To Run, Stole Another

The police department received a message over the teletype machine Wednesday night that the Ford Cabriolet car stolen from the garage of W. Anderson on Green street had been recovered in Jersey City and that the young man who had stolen it was being held in custody.

From the message received at the police department it was learned that the youth had driven the stolen car to Kingston when he had some trouble with the motor. He placed it in a garage for repairs, and then, evidently being in a hurry to return home, had removed the car from his own car and broken into the Carl garage and stolen the car, placing his own license on it.

Carl was notified of the recovery of his car in Jersey City.

Veterans Will Give Grand Military Ball

For the past six years Joyce-King Post No. 1386 Veterans of Foreign Wars have sponsored a grand ball, but this year the post has decided to hold a Grand Military Ball at the state armory on the night of October 31.

The massing of colors from at least ten posts from New York city and Hudson Valley will take place at 8 p. m.

One of the local drum corps will furnish music for the colors and also for the various drills.

This is the first Grand Military and Ball that has been held in Kingston and the veterans expect an enormous crowd.

Music for dancing will be furnished by Misenholder's Orchestra.

Cully Cleaning Gun Shot Himself

John Cully, 24, of Hurley, while cleaning a .22 calibre rifle at his home Wednesday afternoon, forgot to remove the shell from the gun and it was accidentally discharged. The bullet pierced the thigh above the knee and emerged on the opposite side without striking the bone. He was brought to Kingston and the police department received a call for an ambulance from 422 Washington avenue, where they found Cully and removed him to the Benedictine hospital, where the youth is being treated by Dr. Maurice H. Silk. Cully suffered considerable loss of blood but the wound is not expected to prove serious.

Patented Method of Avoiding Paying Debts

Mavis Carroll, in the Golden Book Magazine, solves the problem of not paying your bills.

"How much is it this year, my son?" asked the professor.

"Well, it's been a-doubling so many years you see," the tailor replied, "and I think I'd like the money now. It's two thousand pounds, it is."

"Oh, that's nothing," the professor calmly remarked.

"But wouldn't you like to wait just another year and make it four thousand? Just think how rich you'd be! Why you might be a king, if you liked!"

"I don't know as I'd care about being a king," the man said thoughtfully.

"But it does sound a powerful sight better! Well, I think I'll wait."

"Of course you will!" said the professor. "There's good sense in you, I do. Good day to you, my man!"

"Will you ever have to pay him the four thousand pounds?" Mavis asked.

"The door closed on the departing tailor."

"Never, my child!" the professor replied emphatically. "He'll go on doubling it till he dies. You see, it's four times worth while waiting another year to get twice as much money!"

Direct Hard to Shoot

The diver, commonly called the loon, is one of the most difficult birds to shoot. It is an uncommonly fine diver, as its name indicates, and is an excellent hunter as well. There is the one bit of sport to be had in hunting a loon on this lake and that is the uncertainty of what the bird will do. It may fly off the water and seek low down bushes, or it may dive beneath the surface and come up about several hundred yards away. The direction, too, is an uncertainty, for a bird gives indication as he goes under the water which way he will swim. The loon is a solitary bird, usually never seen more than one pair inhabiting a small bit of water. The female usually lays two or three eggs during the nesting season, and for that reason divers are not very numerous.

Find Missionaries Of Limited Capacity

New York, Oct. 12 (AP)—The fourth installment of the report of the appraisal commission of the Laymen's Foreign Mission Inquiry expressed the opinion that "the greater number" of missionaries are "of limited outlook and capacity."

The survey of the Far Eastern Mission situation conducted by the inquiry was sponsored by seven Protestant denominations represented in the territory covered by more than 10,000 missionaries.

Today's installment of the report asserts the missionary is prone to see his task as primarily that of promoting his own church organization.

"The trail of self-interest within the organization lies like the trail of the serpent over the missions of Asia within our purview," the report continues.

"Of the thousands of missionaries, the commission reports, there are many of conspicuous power, true saintliness, and a sublime spirit of devotion, men and women in whose presence one feels himself at once exalted and unworthy."

"The greater number seem to us of limited outlook and capacity; and there are not a few whose vision of the inner meaning of the mission has become obscured by the intricacies, divisions, frictions, and details of a task too great for their powers and their hearts."

The report states that on the whole the human side of the mission seems "unduly weak."

OFFICE CAT

A New Tune to an Old Song
 Save your pennies for a rainy day.
 The time-worn maxim used to say:
 But we save them now for the business tax.
 And all we do is pay and pay.

The good old days were those when you could measure a man's importance by the amount of gill he had on his shaving mug at the barber shop.

Hobbs—What's the idea of a small firm like yours having such a large massive safe?
 Dobbs—It helps the morale of our creditors.

Newspaper Reporter—Senator, have you brought many people to your way of thinking?
 Senator Shurtliff—No. Public opinion is something like a mule I owned when I was a boy. In order to keep up the appearance of being driven I had to watch the way he was going and follow on behind.

She—My nose is only about half as big as yours.
 He—Yeah? Let's measure them.
 She—
 He—SMACK!

LOOSE STUFF...It's getting mighty expensive for a husband to take an interest in modern household devices. One thing about a boy or girl who works part or all of his way through college, at least he learns how to make his way. The world still is looking for the great statesman who will invent a lot of taxes which the other fellow will have to pay. Failure sits on the doorstep of the man who hates what he has to do.
 You may think you are firm but your wife knows you are only stubborn. We hope people will never think as little of us as they do of a congressman. There are probably ten men who go to court to get even to one who goes to get justice. A man's greatest fault is to be conscious of none. No interest rate seems low when you're paying it.
 Sometimes our most distant relatives are our nearest kinsfolk. None of us object to flattery provided we are the object of it. If it were not for safety razors, barbers might have to go to work at something else to make a living. The stone that is fit for the wall does not long lie in the ditch.
 Another trouble with the man who knows nothing is that he is always the last to find it out.

Pups at Our House:
 We got a new porch 'at's screened all round.
 Where skeeters and flies and bugs abound.
 A new oil stove, and that ain't all—
 We've got new pups to our house!

An' Elbert's pants got a city press.
 I've got ticks an' a speckled dress.
 An' pizen ivy, an' that ain't all—
 We've got new pups to our house!

When a man continues to pile up more enmity than good will in his community, there's something wrong and the chances are the wrong is not with his fellowmen.

Becky—For my mama does papa wear duck pants?
 Mama—He's studying to be a quack doctor. Now run off to bed.

Doss—Why did you spell pneumatic "Newmatic"?
 Dumb Stenographer—The "k" on my typewriter is not working.

We noticed a bit of advice in a recent comic strip: "If you would help keep the wolf away from the door, try keeping the hog away from the table."

Elderly Man—Well, little girl, and what are you going to do when you grow up to be a big woman like your mother?

Modern Child—Diet, of course.

A typical American is one who knows how to manage the nation's business, but can't make a success of his own.

P. H. Cullen Spoke To Catholic Club

"The Catholic Church from a Layman's Viewpoint" was the topic of a very interesting and instructive talk by Prof. P. H. Cullen to the W-E Catholic Club on Monday evening.
 Mr. Cullen related the history of the church from the time of Christ and pointed out its great moral influence in the early stages of Christianity.
 Citing incidents of persecution, cruelty, and hardships in the early life of the church the speaker clearly showed how only an institution of divine origin could have survived such attacks and continue to preach the doctrine of the church as intended by Christ himself. Inspired by a love for God and fortified with divine grace the Apostles of the church went forth into the world in a spirit of self-sacrifice, suffering untold misery and even martyrdom, until they had fulfilled the wish of Christ and had safely implanted the seed of Christianity in every corner of the earth.

Mr. Cullen touched upon the present conditions in Mexico, Spain, and Russia and told of the deplorable conditions which have been brought about through government interference with the church.

In closing, Mr. Cullen urged his listeners to be loyal to God by being loyal to His church, stating that such loyalty is the most effective means of suppressing the organized effort which is being made today to extinguish the idea of a supernatural being—God.

Mr. Cullen was extended a rising vote of thanks and was heartily applauded for his fine talk. The club is looking forward to the time when he will again be able to address it.

Today

Kingston: "Huddle." Ramon Novarro in a story of Yale and football. Yale traditions play their part in this talkie too, but Mr. Novarro doesn't look or act like a football player, nor does the play offer much in entertainment value.
 Madge Evans is in the cast.

Orpheum: "Just Imagine." How
 New York city will look in the future, and how people will act and live in later years is entertainingly portrayed by Maureen O'Sullivan, John Garrick and El Brendel.

Broadway: "Roar of the Dragon."
 Richard Dix in the star role, supported by the beautiful Gwili Andre, is splendid in this exciting talkie of Chinese bandits and oriental intrigues. The show moves along at a mad pace from start to finish, with numerous fights, and plenty of thrills. Wesley Ruggles directed, and the supporting cast includes Arline Judge, Edward Everett Horton, Zuzu Pitts, Dudley Digges, and Henry Gordon. This show will appeal to young and old.

Tomorrow

Kingston: Same.
 Orpheum: "Passport to Hell" and
 "Law of the North." Elsie Landi and Paul Lukas are the featured players in the first talkie, a melodrama with more than its share of excitement. "Law of the North" gives Bill Cody and Andy Shuffelt a chance to do their stuff in their customary western manner.

Broadway: Same.

Bears Unable to Climb
 Although the polar bear's performance in the water is far superior to that of any black bear, when it comes to climbing trees the black bear has the advantage. In fact, neither the polar bears nor the grizzlies can climb trees at all.

Suskind Endorses Boy Scout Work

Kingston, N. Y., October 4, 1932.
 William A. Wright,
 Scout Executive,
 377 Fair Street,
 Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Wright:
 I consider it both a privilege and a pleasure to be allowed an opportunity to express my opinion or Scouting from my own experience.

I believe as other people with similar experience have expressed that it is an investment in our coming generation which will give us the greatest return for the best out-time and money in the building of character in our boys by teaching them a sense of responsibility towards their obligations.

In conclusion I wish to say that there has never been a time in the history of our country when the need of building up a sound, sane, healthy, moral background for the boys of the present day has been as great as at this particular time.

I hope that you will receive the necessary support to carry on this new work.

Yours very truly,
 R. SUSKIND

Renovating Table

To remove marks made by hot dishes from a table, first heat the spot with a good furniture polish or wax, or with camphorated oil. Next remove the excess polish or oil with a clean, soft cloth. Wring a soft cloth out of clear lukewarm water and put three drops of ammonia on the cloth.
 Rub the spots carefully with this cloth and follow immediately with another clean cloth, moistened with polish or wax.

Elves and Gnomes Come

Into World of Reality

An Englishman once wrote a fascinating story called "The Adventures of a Brownie," considered solely to be a book for children. But Geoffrey Hodson, who spoke before the Michigan Theosophical Federation in Detroit, would doubtless accept it as fact rather than fancy.

For he says he believes that there are tiny little nature spirits which obey the will of "a major, directing intelligence in nature" and in so doing perform "important functions in the economics of the solar system." Peasants in northern England and in Ireland, themselves of Celtic blood and therefore assumed to be more psychic than Nordics, are intimately acquainted with these spirits of garden, field and woodland, according to Mr. Hodson. Moreover, two little English girls actually took photographs of "nature spirits," which looked exactly as fairy tale illustrations have made them appear.

The average individual would have to be convinced of the part elves and gnomes play in the work-a-day world before he would pay very serious attention to all this. The practical man would like to know whether elves and gnomes can be trained or cajoled into such helpfulness as weed-pulling or bug-killing in the garden. Otherwise, what price elves and gnomes?—Detroit Free Press.

Scientists Unable to Explain Cause of Fire

The most logical explanation as to what causes the heat which is generated in a hay stack and sometimes ends in spontaneous combustion, as known today, though by no means the most universally accepted, and the one scientific observations of actual cases seems to support is as follows: When hay is stacked in a moist condition, plant tissue enzymes are able to continue their activities and micro-organisms are enabled to grow. Both of these reactions may, and probably do, produce heat. The plant tissue cells and some of the micro-organisms may be assumed to be killed at 115 degrees-125 degrees Fahrenheit. Here highly heat resistant micro-organisms, known as thermophiles, may begin to grow and also to liberate heat. Just how high they might carry the temperature is not known, but probably not as high as 212 degrees Fahrenheit. However, temperatures as high as 600 degrees Fahrenheit have been recorded in hay stacks before fire broke out. What the reaction is that produces this temperature is not known, though it is undoubtedly some oxidative reaction.

Love of a Hippo

If a mother hippopotamus traveling with her baby is killed the young hippopotamus will not leave her side but will remain on guard until it is either shot or roped and dragged away from the spot. A similar affection for its mother is displayed by a young rhinoceros.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

Thousands who have itching, bleeding or painful piles have not yet learned that quick and lasting relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To get rid of Piles an internal medicine must be used to cleanse the circulation, drive out the thick impure blood, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. H. Leonard, after years of study, found a real internal Pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with success in over 900 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer, no matter how stubborn their case, might try HEM-ROID with a money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when HEM-ROID gives you all good druggists tell you to try HEM-ROID (tablets with guarantee of money refunded if they do not cure your Pile misery).

College Women Hear Hervey White

Tuesday evening, October 11, the Kingston College Women's Club held its first meeting of the year. The club received as new members Mrs. Hiram Nickerson, a graduate of New York State College for Teachers; Mrs. Dennis J. Wyne, graduate of Mechanics Institute of New York University; and Miss E. Gertrude Somes of Wellesley College.

Hervey White, well known resident of Woodstock and founder of the Maverick Art Colony, was the speaker of the evening. Mr. White in his delightfully informal and sincere manner, told the story of the development of the idea of a self-supporting communal arts and crafts group from the time when as a student at Harvard he first became acquainted with new economic ideas of society, through his work at Hull House Settlement, until, with Ralph Whitehead of Oxford University and Boston Brown of Cornell University, he founded the Maverick Colony at Woodstock. Several years later Mr. White acquired land of his own and started the Maverick community where he attempted to attract and help younger artists and craftsmen. From these humble beginnings the Maverick has grown until it now numbers 25 studios, 16 of them fitted for year around occupancy. In this movement Mr. White has endeavored to get representatives of all the arts in so far as has been possible—music, painting, sculpture, poetry, fiction writing, wood-carving, editing, pottery, glass making, jewelry making, lithographic press work, acting. To meet its growing needs the Maverick has its own concert hall and theatre, which attract musicians and actors of established reputation. Mr. White has so far fulfilled his object of assisting young artists to develop in their different fields that today the Maverick ranks as the foremost art colony in the eastern United States and includes such names as Paul Kiefer, the cellist; Pierre Henrotte, violinist and concert master; George Barrere, Dutillet; Helen Hayes, Rose Hobart, Blanche Yurka and Dudley Diggs, actors; Henry Morton Robinson, the poet, and Carl Walters, potter and glass maker.

Mr. White's talk was followed by an informal discussion after which refreshments were served. The hostesses for the evening were Miss Laura Bailey, Mrs. Charles L. Arnold, Miss Barbara Baum, Mrs. W. J. Reatty, Mrs. Gerard Reitz, Mrs. Adell Black, Mrs. Hamilton Boyd, Mrs. Ward Brigham, Miss Dorothy Brooks.

"OH BOY!"

With cold weather coming again, Mother says I must have my bowl of Heckers' Cream Farina, now... even more than ever.

And do I like it? Say... I can't talk like a big fellow yet... all I can say is "oh!", and gurgle a bit. But what I'm really thinking is... this hot cereal that the Doctor says is so very nourishing, is also great to eat! ("Doc" says Heckers' Cream Farina is easily digested, too... and that's mighty important.)

And Mothers: Heckers' Cream Farina, in addition to its health-building qualities, is most economical... a small-size package gives you sixteen average servings.

Read This About High Blood Pressure

It's a True Story That Broadminded Men Will Read

Bernard Shapiro of Brooklyn, N. Y., on Oct. 21, 1931, wrote this wonderful and intelligent letter without solicitation—no matter of fact we are not acquainted with Mr. Shapiro and did not know that he had been taking Kruschen Salts.

"I have repeatedly read your ads quoting testimonial letters. I have one to offer which goes thru all one better. On August 22, 1931, my physical condition forced me to seek medical aid. After being examined by a local physician I sought and found a doctor who rates one of the leading reputations in Hudson County.

"On above date I weighed 245 lbs. only 5 ft. 4 1/2 inches in height. Also an advanced cardiac (heart) condition blood pressure 170. Only 36 years of age.

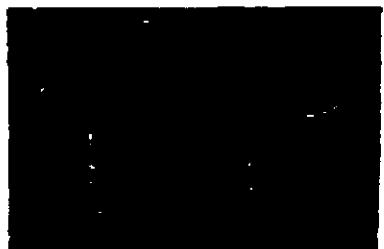

"After a thorough examination by this doctor he instructed me thusly:

"One Teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in warm water every morning with a diet very similar to the one enclosed in your 35c package."

"This morning Oct. 21, 1931, less than two months, I have lost 44 lbs. My present weight 200 lbs. blood pressure today 120 (normal). Mind you no other medication, just the Salts and diet. I feel better than I've felt in years and am told I look many years younger."

A Jar that last 4 weeks costs but a trifle at McRide Drug Stores and drug stores the world over.

In Appreciation of Knitted Things

New York—Not so long ago it was the exceptional woman who had a knitted suit, and the still more exceptional one who had a knitted dress. Now it is the exceptional one who hasn't both, sometimes even several of each. Women who live out of town fairly live in knitted things and this means that the commuter likes them too.

Since someone hit on the bright idea of formalizing the knitted costume just a bit it has had a much wider appeal. College girls "adore" knitted clothes and older women have also become converts to the cause.

There are many drop stitch fabrics and many knitted details on dresses of other types. Jersey, plain and glorified, is having a tremendous vogue. Knitted hats and all manner of knitted things are being worn by young and old. Have you seen the new woolen neckties the men are wearing? They are ever so smart and girls who go in for mannish clothes are quite ardent over them.

Speaking of mannish things, women are wearing starched white collars, the turn down variety, and have also taken to collar buttons and the shirt neckline.

You have noticed, of course, that stockings have been darkening. That's natural considering the season. That they are keeping to the brown tones is also easy enough to understand although stylists seem convinced that gray is the "high style" color of the year. Not, however, in stockings but as a costume color. There is more gray worn than for some time and it is frequently seen with brown.

You also may have noticed how browns are catching up to those dark reds which started off so gallantly even before fall. Black is as much worn as ever, not usually alone, but when relieved with white or a color. If there is any tendency to do away with contrasts and to wear monotonies it has not been strong enough to deserve comment. Greens are forging ahead, especially for evening. Yellow and green is one of the newer color schemes.

WITH DROP STITCH SCRAF

Copyright, 1932, by Fairchild.

The one-piece dress of rabbit's hair knit fabric in the striped version that has already gained much prominence. Black and white combine in the dress, while multicolors are featured for the drop stitch scarf.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

At a smart meet the selection of accessories, either black or brown variously carried out, was another style point of great importance. Hat, handbag, gloves and shoes, or in some instances the hat and handbag, matched, especially in plaid wool.

Mesh belts, and belts studded with gold nail heads, repeating the trimming on bodice yokes, are trimming details of interest.

A New High and Low for Necklines

The fashionable woman must go to two extremes in order to satisfy fashion neckline demands. By day, she must be covered up to her chin; for evening she bears the chest to a new low. This new evening décolletage is cut deeply and widely, and to give an exact idea of just how low it is cut, it is not exaggerating to say that the nether point of the V practically coincides with the topmost point of the high waistline.

Woman in Auto Hit By Limb of a Tree

While Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bingle of Cairo were driving along the Saugerties road enroute to New York city Wednesday afternoon a large limb of a roadside tree crashed and struck the top of the automobile they were riding in. Mrs. Bingle, who sat in the front seat alongside her husband who was driving, was quite badly injured, sustaining a fractured rib and contusions and lacerations of the face and chest. The husband escaped uninjured. He drove his wife to the Kingston Hospital where she is under the care of Dr. Schillingham, house surgeon, who stated that her condition today was apparently good. The accident occurred just north of Glenrie.

New York, Oct. 13 (AP).—The stock market slid back down grade today, gaining considerable momentum, after a fruitless effort to extend Tuesday rally during the first hour. Industrial and corporate news appearing over yesterday's market holiday indicated further improvement in spots, but was evidently not sufficiently convincing to provide a basis for further advances by the fourth hour, many issues were 1 to 5 under Tuesday's close.

The morning rally carried a rather assortment of issues up a point or so, including some of the oil and copper, but American Telephone failed to follow, and when that began to slip later on, virtually the entire list gave way. Losses of 2 to

Threat of Personal Bankruptcy Actions Now Face Insults

Chicago, Oct. 13 (AP).—Samuel Insull, Sr., and his brother, Martin, today were faced with threatened personal bankruptcy actions as creditors sought to bring to light assets in branches of their bankrupt utility empire.

Louis F. Jacobson, attorney for creditors of the Insull Utility Investments, Inc., involved in bankruptcy proceedings before Federal Judge Walter Lindley, indicated he likely would seek personal bankruptcy petitions for the Insulls.

Such proceedings, he said, would enable creditors to examine all holdings, cash, and real estate, of the men in the search for company assets. As the Federal hearing now stands, only assets of the company may be investigated.

Meanwhile, two assistants of state attorney John A. Swanson were ready to leave for Washington for a presidential warrant for Samuel Insull now in Chicago. Both Insulls are charged with larceny and embezzlement in the bursting of the utility bubble.

Witnesses whose testimony before the Cook county grand jury resulted in the indictments were to appear before Chief Justice John Prystalski to give testimony to support requests for presidential warrants for the Insulls.

When this testimony is taken, extradition papers are to be sent by air to Springfield for the signature of Acting Governor Fred E. Sterling and then forwarded to Washington for signing by President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson, the prosecutor said.

Swanson expected that his aides likely would leave for Washington tonight to pick up the Presidential warrant for Samuel Insull and call either Saturday or Wednesday for Europe. The warrant for Martin Insull will be mailed to Barrie, Ont., Canada, where he is free on bond pending an extradition hearing.

Three New Yorkers Hurt in Accident

Andrew Schuls and Bruno Paulsen of 237 West 19th street and Alfred Bloss of 96 Washington Terrace, New York, received serious injuries when their sedan left the pavement on Route 9-W near the Erickson farm north of Highland Wednesday night, knocked down a telephone pole and crashed through two concrete posts before coming to a stop, a complete wreck.

Sergeant Lockhart of the state troopers and Dr. Carl F. Meekins of Highland were notified and after giving the injured men first-aid treatment the doctor brought them to the Kingston Hospital.

Sergeant Lockhart and Troopers Baker and Smith were kept busy for a while handling traffic at the scene of the accident, passing autoists being in danger from the high voltage wires which had fallen on the roadway when the pole carrying them was broken off.

Dr. Louis Schillingham, who treated the injured men at the hospital reported that Schuls had suffered a compound fracture of the right leg, a deep laceration of the left leg and multiple contusions. Bloss had a deep laceration on the scalp and suffered a slight contusion. There were contusions and lacerations of the right hand and a deep laceration about the eye. His condition was reported good this morning. Paulsen had a fracture of the left shoulder blade, multiple contusions and lacerations and was suffering from shock when admitted to the hospital. He is improving.

Insurance Brokers Confess Kidnaping

New York, Oct. 13 (AP).—Two insurance brokers appeared in the police lineup today and repeated the story they told police after their arrest yesterday, that they had kidnaped 7-year-old John Arthur Russell, son of a wealthy stock broker, because of pressing financial difficulties.

The brokers, Allen W. August, 25, and George T. Clarke, 26, both of Brooklyn, were arrested after August returned from Cleveland. Each is married and each has a son.

The Russell boy was kidnaped September 19 as he was on his way home from school. He was taken to an apartment and one of the kidnapers telephone the mother demanding $25,000 ransom. Soon afterward police sent out a radio alarm and an intensive search was started.

The prisoners said that when they learned of the police search they lost their nerve and after nightfall released the boy, who returned to his home unharmed.

A slim clue led to the solution of the case. It was the kidnaped boy's statement that from the window of the room in which he was held he saw a large brown tent with children playing around it.

A few days later a woman called at a police station to obtain information about renewing her husband's taxicab license, mentioning the kidnaping and said that from a window of her apartment she could see the same kind of tent the boy described.

Police visited the neighborhood, found the place where the boy had been held and later learned Clarke had rented it.

New York, Oct. 13 (AP).—Two insurance brokers appeared in the police lineup today and repeated the story they told police after their arrest yesterday, that they had kidnaped 7-year-old John Arthur Russell, son of a wealthy stock broker, because of pressing financial difficulties.

The brokers, Allen W. August, 25, and George T. Clarke, 26, both of Brooklyn, were arrested after August returned from Cleveland. Each is married and each has a son.

The Russell boy was kidnaped September 19 as he was on his way home from school. He was taken to an apartment and one of the kidnapers telephone the mother demanding $25,000 ransom. Soon afterward police sent out a radio alarm and an intensive search was started.

The prisoners said that when they learned of the police search they lost their nerve and after nightfall released the boy, who returned to his home unharmed.

A slim clue led to the solution of the case. It was the kidnaped boy's statement that from the window of the room in which he was held he saw a large brown tent with children playing around it.

A few days later a woman called at a police station to obtain information about renewing her husband's taxicab license, mentioning the kidnaping and said that from a window of her apartment she could see the same kind of tent the boy described.

Police visited the neighborhood, found the place where the boy had been held and later learned Clarke had rented it.

Wallkill Prison Probe Blocked

At the meeting in Albany Wednesday of the Republican legislative committee investigating expenditures during the administrations of Alfred E. Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt, the move to find out about the exorbitant price paid for the site of the medium security prison at Wallkill was temporarily blocked.

Commissioner Baldwin reported that E. C. Pooler, appraiser for the State Department of Agriculture and Markets, who had a hand in valuing the site at $61,000 less than the state paid for it, was out of town on official business. Subsequently Senator Hewitt, chairman of the committee, said he expected to question Mr. Pooler concerning the option as soon as his state business permits his return to Albany.

Wm. N. Haskell 3rd Killed By Bullet

New York, Oct. 13 (AP).—Police and a medical examiner disagreed today over the death of socially prominent William N. Haskell, 3rd, Haskell, son of the commander of the New York National Guard, and recently the fiance of Miss Eleanor Gould, great granddaughter of the late Jay Gould, financier, who was killed by a bullet in his family's Park avenue apartment last night.

Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, deputy chief medical examiner, said it was clearly a suicide. Police Lieut. John Shields said Haskell was shot accidentally while cleaning his revolver. The bullet pierced his brain.

Dr. Gonzales said the family physician informed him that Haskell, who was 28 and a graduate of Princeton in 1928, was discharged about two months ago from a Bloomingdale, N. Y., sanitarium, where he had undergone treatment for a nervous disorder.

Young Haskell's engagement to Miss Gould was announced last February. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould, announced last June that the engagement had been broken by mutual consent.

Maj. Gen. William N. Haskell, the young man's father, was in San Antonio, Tex., when the death occurred. He and Mrs. Haskell, the former Miss Winifred A. Farrell of Albany, have three other children.

Three New Yorkers Hurt in Accident

Andrew Schuls and Bruno Paulsen of 237 West 19th street and Alfred Bloss of 96 Washington Terrace, New York, received serious injuries when their sedan left the pavement on Route 9-W near the Erickson farm north of Highland Wednesday night, knocked down a telephone pole and crashed through two concrete posts before coming to a stop, a complete wreck.

Sergeant Lockhart of the state troopers and Dr. Carl F. Meekins of Highland were notified and after giving the injured men first-aid treatment the doctor brought them to the Kingston Hospital.

Sergeant Lockhart and Troopers Baker and Smith were kept busy for a while handling traffic at the scene of the accident, passing autoists being in danger from the high voltage wires which had fallen on the roadway when the pole carrying them was broken off.

Dr. Louis Schillingham, who treated the injured men at the hospital reported that Schuls had suffered a compound fracture of the right leg, a deep laceration of the left leg and multiple contusions. Bloss had a deep laceration on the scalp and suffered a slight contusion. There were contusions and lacerations of the right hand and a deep laceration about the eye. His condition was reported good this morning. Paulsen had a fracture of the left shoulder blade, multiple contusions and lacerations and was suffering from shock when admitted to the hospital. He is improving.

Princeton-Cornell Game Looked Upon As Grid "Natural"

New York, Oct. 13 (AP).—One of the most natural of football "natural" is scheduled for next Saturday when Princeton and Cornell meet at Princeton in the 22nd game of their ancient series.

They have been in general fairly well matched and each draws special attention this season, the Tigers because of their new coaching regime and the indications of success that already have followed the work of "Fritz" Crisler and his assistants. Cornell because the illness of Head Coach Gilmour has hampered the development of a promising squad.

No Favorite

So far there is no favorite for the game. The Tigers looked strong but green against Columbia and they were beaten, 20-7. There is little doubt that they will be further advanced this week. Cornell, fortunately perhaps, has met no strong opposition so far and hasn't looked particularly impressive against the small teams.

The return of the veteran Dohle and of Johnny Ferraro, star back who was hurt in the opening game, may make a considerable difference.

Tigers Want Revenge

The Tigers, down in the football depths for the past three years, are out to avenge the three games they lost during that time. Before 1929 they had recorded 15 out of 18 games in the old series, which was allowed to lapse for 20 years from 1907 to 1927.

At West Point Army and Pittsburgh come together in a game which seems destined to eliminate one of the contenders for the mythical eastern championship. The Penn-Dartmouth clash brings together another pair of undefeated teams, as does N. Y. U.-Georgetown. Other "big" games among teams of the eastern section are Harvard-Penn State, Lafayette-Colgate, Carnegie-Washington and Jefferson and West Virginia-West Virginia Wesleyan.

Intercollegiate Clashes.

Strong intercollegiate opposition for some of the eastern leaders is found in the Syracuse-Southern Methodist, Columbia-Virginia, Navy-Ohio University and Holy Cross-Detroit clashes.

About the only "soft" games on the program are Fordham's encounter with Lebanon Valley and Villanova's meeting with Seton Hall.

Canzoneri Kayoes Petrolle in Third

New York, Oct. 13 (AP).—Last night, in the chill breezes of Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, Tony Canzoneri opened his assault on the Petrolle family with a smashing three-round knockout of the junior member, Frankie, in a non-title bout. Next month he is to defend his crown against the older and more experienced Billy Petrolle.

Although outweighed by nearly eight pounds, Canzoneri left little room for argument. He checked Petrolle's advances with a steady flow of punches to the head in the first two frames and then put him out completely after a little more than a minute of the third with a shower of left hooks, followed by a right uppercut to the chin.

Tony weighed 132½; Petrolle 140½.

Rosenbloom Wins.

The other champion on the charity card, Maxie Rosenbloom, who is recognized in New York as light heavyweight title holder, gave the 12,000 bright faithful a few laughs as he took an easy ten round decision from Jack Redman, lanky South Bend, Ind., negro. This also was a non-title affair, as Maxie weighed 181½ and Redman 184.

"Gar" Davidson to Coach Cadets in '33

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP).—The periodical changes which come from time to time to send army officers to new posts and into active service with troops will bring the Military Academy a new head football coach next season and one who probably is the youngest ever to guide the Army teams.

Lieutenant Garrison H. "Gar" Davidson, a graduate of the academy in the class of 1927, has been chosen to replace Major Ralph I. Sasse when Sasse's four year detail at West Point ends next June. Major P. B. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, announced yesterday.

Davidson said yesterday he contemplated no changes in the present Army system. He has made no choice of his assistants for next fall yet as war department policies govern the assignment of coaches and he does not know who will be available.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

For an "umbrella" game it's hard to beat golf, as Miss Helen (Billie) Hicks, national women's champion in 1931, will admit following her failure to qualify in defense of the title this year.

It is difficult to figure a golfer of her experience and calibre taking an 89 for the one-round test leading up to the match play activities, but that's just what the popular Long Island girl did.

She can now sympathize with Harrison (Jimmy) Johnston, the Minnesota veteran who has failed to qualify in three successive tournaments since he beat Dr. Oscar Willing for the championship at Pebble Beach in 1923.

The flax, pursued Johnston at Merion in 1930, Beverly in 1931 and Five Farms this year, despite a previous tournament record that marked him as one of the best medal players among the amateurs.

For that matter Francis Outmet had a real struggle to qualify himself at Five Farms. Outmet had only a stroke to spare in gaining the qualifying fold and needed a great finish to save himself from elimination. Whereupon he went out in the first round of match play the following morning and shot the first nine holes at Five Farms in 30, five under par, to annihilate George Vogt.

It was only the afternoon, before that outburst that, to my inquiry regarding his health, Francis replied:

"I only wish my golf was as good right now as my physical condition."

Corriden Gets Break.

For a fellow who was out of a job a year ago after a long career in baseball, John "Red" Corriden is slitting pretty comfortably as a coach for the National League champion Cubs.

Corriden "resigned" as manager of the Indianapolis entry in the American Association in August, 1931, as he was nearing the end of his second unsuccessful season there. He caught on with the Cubs at the end of the season and this fall participated in a generous slice of world's series money.

A minor scandal which embroiled Corriden in his freshman year in the big leagues—with the St. Louis Browns in 1910—was thought by some baseball experts to have cut down his playing time in the big show, although he was absolved from any complicity in the affair.

Lajoie's "Cousin."

It was in the season finale of 1910, when Ty Cobb and Larry Lajoie were in a neck and neck fight for the league batting championship, that Corriden, a raw rookie, was sent to third base for the Browns against Cleveland in a doubleheader. That day Lajoie made eight base hits, seven of them on bunts down the third base line, while Rookie Corriden, it developed, was playing "deep" for Lajoie under orders.

The late Ben Johnson, as president of the league, ordered an "investigation" and gave Corriden a clean bill of health. As it happened, Cobb won the batting championship that year by a fraction of a point.

PUNTS and PASSES

(By The Associated Press.)

Worcester, Mass.—It looks like the old Army game for Holy Cross this season. In addition to Captain John McEwan, former Army star and coach as head coach of the Crusaders, Gene Vidal, who was quarterback on the 1916 Cadet team which McEwan captained, stopped in yesterday to lead his assistance.

Philadelphia—What seemed to have been just a little sprain has come along to make some serious trouble for the Penn varsity. When Captain Stan Sokolis hurt his ankle Tuesday and damage seemed so slight he didn't bother about it but yesterday the joint was so badly swollen that it seemed as if he would miss the Dartmouth game.

Cambridge, Mass.—What may be a turning point in the entire Harvard football season is scheduled to take place in a classroom today but the result won't be known until next week. Jack Crickard, star back, has to take an examination and get a grade of C or better to remain eligible.

West Point, N. Y.—It won't make much difference if the score is as high as it was last year when Pitt beat Army 24-0, but the Cadets are working hard on a factor that may decide a close game. Long sessions this week have been devoted to booting the extra points after touchdowns—one of their weak spots in early games.

New Haven, Conn.—Whether or not Yale's coaches have picked the right varsity combination remains to be seen but they apparently have decided their first choice was correct, despite the Bulldogs' weakness in the first two games. After shifting the whole team around Tuesday, they shifted back yesterday, putting all but two men in their original positions.

Syracuse, N. Y.—It was just yesterday that Coach Ray Morrison announced that Southern Methodist was going in for an intensive passing attack but Syracuse has been working for several days on a defense against it for Saturday's game. Scouts who watched S. M. U. play reported that the Mustangs' best bet was the take to the air.

Providence, R. I.—There seems to be a ray of hope for the Brown coaches no matter what the Bruins do in practice. Their final scrimmage for the Yale game was particularly bad, but one of their tutors said "Some good football sure ought to follow that work."

Hanover, N. H.—Dartmouth's regulars not only have been threatened with a shakeup but they have had a taste of what may happen to them. Several key men had only part-time work yesterday as their subs shaped the places on the varsity.

Yellow Jackets to Practice Tonight

The Kingston Yellow Jackets will hold their second practice of the week tonight at 7:30 on the North Manor avenue field in preparation for their struggle against the Woodlawn at the Fair Grounds Sunday afternoon.

Manager Lou Kantrowitz and Coach Big Bill O'Reilly are anxious to see all of the "Waps" on hand for tonight's drill as some new formations will be given. Plenty of football strategy will be necessary to defeat or even make a good showing against the Woodlawners, who last year made such a brilliant showing against the Kantrowitzmen and this season have strengthened their lineup by the addition of several grid veterans.

Coach Reilly can see no reason why the Yellow Jackets with their wealth of good football material should not send the Yorkers home with a defeat blurring its record. Other football enthusiasts of this vicinity are of the same opinion and hope to see the "Bees" spectacularly trample over the American Legion eleven from the lower Hudson city in a real hard-fought gridiron struggle Sunday afternoon. Starting time of the game is 2:45 o'clock.

Senecas, Hebrews Ready for Season

The Kingston Senecas are scheduled to open their basketball season at Saltration Army court, North Front street, tonight at 8:30 o'clock. It was not announced whether their opponents would be, but the Hebrew-Americans, having filed a challenge, may team up against the Indians.

Lineups of these teams are as follows:

Senecas—Geisler, Streeter and Cooper, forwards; Fralough, center; Keator and Lamb, guards.

Hebrew-Americans—O. Beach, L. Levine, J. Spitzer, forwards; M. Beach, center; Sam Rosenberg, M. Bahl and D. Goldfarb, guards.

The Hebrews can use another center and anyone caring to apply for the position on the team should get in touch with Mr. Reuben, coach. Games with the Hebrews may be arranged by phoning either 1224 or 2432. Last season the quietest won approximately 47 out of 55 games, according to Manager Rosenberg's record book.

Chocolate Favored Over Feldman, 2-1

New York, Oct. 13 (AP).—Tonight's 15-round scrap between Kid Chocolate, the clever Cuban negro, and Lew Feldman of New York carries the State Athletic Commission's recognition as a featherweight championship affair. The place has been vacant here since Bat Battalino forfeited the title through his inability to make the 126-pound limit although Tommy Paul of Buffalo was recognized as champion by the National Boxing Association.

Chocolate, who holds some recognition as junior lightweight champion and who failed in one attempt to capture the featherweight crown from Battalino, ranks as a 2-1 favorite to win tonight's battle. He met Feldman once before and gave him a thorough trimming in a ten-round bout.

"Papa" Felts

Nollie Felts, captain of Tulane's football team, is called "Papa" because he is a married man. He is also a great fullback, and does most of the punting for his team. For three years Tulane has not lost a game in the Southern conference, and Nollie predicts it will again finish at the top.

JOSEPH H. HILL CELEBRATES HIS 84TH BIRTHDAY

West Shokan, Oct. 13.—Still hale and hearty, although a bit lame, stalwart Joseph H. Hill of Kingston celebrated his 84th birthday on Wednesday, October 12. Mr. Hill, who is well known among older residents, is a native of Shokan and has spent the greater part of his lifetime here, moving from his farm in Watson Hollow in Kingston 15 years ago. For many years he conducted a large butcher business in the old village of West Shokan, also bought and sold cattle extensively. During the condemnation proceedings in acquiring the reservoir property Mr. Hill was employed as an expert appraiser by the City of Newburgh. Since that time Mr. Hill has devoted his time exclusively to the affairs of the Olive Co-operative Fire Insurance association of which for many years he has held the office of secretary. Since the office of treasurer was created by the Olive Re-Union association, Mr. Hill has served very obligingly from year to year through re-election. But now he has perhaps a lifelong job on his hands as at the recent Labor Day picnic at Coleraine at the proposal of Assemblyman Millard Davis, Mr. Hill was unanimously elected treasurer for a ten year term. His many friends extend hearty congratulations on this his natal day, and trust that the years of his useful life are not yet numbered. For a half century and more the names of Joe Hill and D. N. Mathews have been household words among residents of this locality. Mr. Mathews is the junior of Mr. Hill by only thirteen months and their remarkable vigor and mental alertness speak volumes for the ruggedness inherited from pioneer forebears, who helped push back the wilderness from Olive's fertile soil.

REGULAR MEETING OF PATROON GRANGE MONDAY

Accord, Oct. 13.—Patroon Grange held its regular meeting in the basement of the Reformed Church on Monday evening, October 10. There were 30 members present. After the close of the business, the meeting was given over to the lecturer, the Rev. Ben Scholten. He had arranged a very interesting program, opening with a song by all ladies present. "What's the Matter with Mother?" Short talks were then given: "A House and a Home," by Mrs. Marion Sahler, "Partners in Homemaking," by Mrs. Luella Davis, and "A Sunshine Husband," by Mrs. L. W. Atkins. Next, a debate, "Resolved, a farmer's wife should have the egg money." Mrs. Lillian Davis upheld the affirmative and Mrs. Helen Turner, the negative. In conclusion, a short play, entitled, "Wanted, a Husband," was presented by Mrs. C. King, Miss Doris Miller, and Franklin Kelder. Refreshments were then served and a social time enjoyed by all. Members of Patroon Grange who were not present at the last meeting are again reminded of the invitation received and accepted to visit the Lake Katrine Grange on Monday evening, October 17. All members are urged to attend this meeting. A very enjoyable and helpful evening is promised everyone. HIGH SCHOOL P-T. A.

TO MEET NEXT TUESDAY.

The High School P-T. A. will meet Tuesday evening, October 13, at 7:30. The meeting will be held in the lunch room. H. M. Nickerson, who is in charge of the Freshman study hall, will talk on "Freshman Problems." Mrs. John Finnerty will give a practical demonstration of the cafeteria. Refreshments will be served. All those interested in the students of K. H. S. are invited.

When Housewives Made Own Stocks of Candles

The candle making process was invented by one Le Ezege of Paris, and for 12 months of the 14th century were employed. There were made ranging from tapers to two diameters, the middle coming in one, two, four, six, eight, twelve and twenty-four accommodations, with the four, six and twelve the most common.

It is likely that when the housewives of Colonial days had decided on their candle-making day she collected the molds of her neighbors along with her own to assure turning out a batch that would last her some length of time. At first she did all her own work, taking care to keep the candle wheeling straight and tight as it hung in the mold.

Later, perhaps because other tasks took her time or because Mrs. Goodnight Thomas across the way had her candles made by an itinerant candle-maker, and because, too, she was hungry for the bits of gossip and news the itinerants carried as part of their stock in trade with their candle molds, she hired the interesting Button Livewright from Boston when he came around in the fall to make her winter supply of candles.

Noisemakers That Are Fragile Most Popular

Noisemakers for the children (and some grownups) are a desideratum on such occasions as Halloween, election day and New Year's eve. But in the selection of such contrivances experience has taught that one must be careful in at least one respect. Let the conversation of a customer and the purveyor of noise illustrate: "I want something that will make the most noise at the least cost," states the party of the first part. "We have horns, whistles, rattles and, even better, this very remarkable cowbell that is guaranteed to last for several years," states the party of the second part. "Give me the most fragile horn you have and throw away those bell things. They last a great deal longer than is necessary. I want something that will serve its purpose tonight and rest on the rubbish heap tomorrow so we can have peace in the household."—New York Sun.

Killed His Look

One time I saw a temperamental movie director order his crew of workmen to kill a stray dog who had been hanging around making friends. Never shall I forget the look of bewilderment that came into the dog's eyes as his luncheon pals suddenly turned on him with sticks and bludgeons. Incidentally, the director who ordered that dog killed never made another successful picture and steadily and sickeningly dropped to oblivion. I knew another man who had a fighting bulldog that he forced to fight for gamblers after one of her forelegs had been chewed off. That brute lost his own leg and finally wound up in state's prison. Sounds like a little Rollo story, but it's true. —Harry Carr in the Los Angeles Times.

Instinctive Energy

"Libido" is defined by Freud as the energy of those instincts which have to do with all that may be comprised under the word "love." Jung enlarged the concept so that for him it describes the energy resident in all instincts. It is claimed that the energy of intellectual processes is measured by intelligence tests in terms of clearness and speed; but the measurement of the creative energy of a wish is more difficult, because the wish, which may be considered to be the inner feeling of need, together with motor acts appropriate to its attainment, may fall to find expression in measurable overt conduct on account of opposing repressive (unconscious) and suppressive (conscious) forces.—Washington Star.

Indian Mountain Worshipers

According to Dr. Walter Hough, head curator of anthropology of the Smithsonian Institution, a cult of mountain-peak worship flourished among the ancient Pueblo Indians in northeastern Arizona. Doctor Hough has made extensive archeological studies in those regions and found many evidences of this strange creed in their decorative designs on their pottery. What is more, the Indians lived in a region overshadowed by four great mountain peaks, one approximately at each of the four points of the compass.

Guest Room Follies

The family is judged by its guest room. In planning this room it is well to keep in mind four points. First, the guest does not know where a single thing in the house is kept. Second, guests are travelers, so a traveler's comfort should be considered. Third, the room should be planned for masculine as well as for feminine guests. Fourth, accessories should be included which can be added to or taken from the room according to the age and needs of the guest.

Holiday in Holland

All Hollanders know that they have something worth showing to the tourist. Other lands have ancient palaces, lakes, rivers and mountains to offer, but Holland lies largely below the level of the sea and was rescued from its ancient and powerful enemy by its sturdy and heroic sons through the construction of great dikes.

"Dumort" is the Mormon name for Utah. It is taken from the book of Mormon and signifies honeytree. The Mormon emblem consists of a conical beehive, with bees around it, being emblematical of the industry of the people.

Picnics and Panics

By CORONA REMINGTON

Cor. Motive Newspaper Production (N.Y.C. 200-1000)

THE birds flew close to the ground or sat in little groups on the leafy limbs; they were silent and subdued. It was a heavy, sudden day, the kind when one looks out of the window constantly to see whether the rain has yet begun to fall.

"What's the use of going out?" she asked her mother mournfully. "Anybody can see it's going to rain tomorrow, and who wants to go to a picnic in the rain?"

Mrs. Oliver went on pulling out plaques from the frier she was dressing, also for the picnic. "You can't tell yet, Lucy. Tomorrow ain't here yet and, anyhow, I reckon we'll want this stuff for Sunday dinner, even if you don't get to take some to the picnic."

"I won't want any of it," answered Lucy in a muffled voice. "Now, child, you mustn't take on that way."

"But, mother, it isn't just an ordinary picnic that's making me so upset. You know Arthur and I have had a scrap, and his asking me to go with him tomorrow made me think he was willing to make up, and I know if I could have him all day to myself I could bring him around. I've been nearly crazy this last month."

"What time's he coming?"

"He said in his letter he'd drive over about ten."

"I'll turn out all right in the end. Don't worry, child. Land makes! How do you reckon you'll ever get through life a-fretting and worryin' the way you do about every little thing?" "But it isn't a little thing," Lucy protested miserably.

The rest of the day was filled with preparations for the picnic and Saturday afternoon tasks, and it was late that night when at last the family could go to bed. Everybody was soon asleep except Lucy, who lay wide awake on her back staring into the darkness and listening to the softly falling rain; the drip, drip, drip of the eaves gave her no chance to forget, and the next morning was one solid gray mass of murky clouds and fog.

Lucy tried to keep the tears back when she went down. "My, my, child! You'd think this was the end of the world. Go put on your good frock and your best smile and look your prettiest when he comes. You can entertain him in the parlor and ask him to dinner. I'll turn out all right. You see if I don't."

The girl finally took her mother's advice and became quite thrilled as the time for her lover's arrival approached. The time came, however, but no Arthur Watson, eleven and twelve passed in the same way. At one Lucy rushed to her room and locked herself in, refusing her dinner.

Late in the afternoon Mrs. Oliver ventured upstairs. "Honey, maybe he expected you to answer his letter," she suggested through the door.

"No, he didn't," came back in reply, "because he said if I didn't write he'd take it to mean I was willing to go."

It was the next day that Mr. Oliver decided to take matters in his own hands. He never believed in interfering between young folks, but nobody could play fast and loose with his girl.

When Oliver walked into the office where Watson was one of the many cogs in a big wheel, he was immediately offended by the young man's urbane manner. It was highly unbecoming to one with a guilty conscience.

"Want to speak to you," said Oliver gruffly.

"Sure thing," Watson replied, putting down his pen.

"I just want to say one thing. You can't break dates with my girl."

"Break dates? What're you talking about? I haven't broken any dates with Lucy."

"Maybe you didn't write to her and ask her to that picnic over to Hampden yesterday," broke in Oliver.

"Why, I wrote to her, but haven't mailed the letter yet. The picnic's next Sunday. See, the letter's right here in my pocket. Watson dived into his coat pocket, then his face became blank and a sheepish expression spread over it. He put his hand to his head in an effort to think.

"I—I must have mailed it with some other letters," he explained weakly. "I wrote it ahead because I—I was sort of anxious, and planned to keep it until about tomorrow. Do you think she'll forgive me?"

"She's pretty mad," grinned Oliver, once more in good humor. "I reckon you better come over tonight and try to make up with her."

"You bet I will, and I'll fill the car with American beauties, too. But it's just my luck," grumbled Watson in a panic, "and I was planning to—to—" He flushed and stopped short.

It was a very cool young girl who received Watson that evening—cool outwardly, but all a flutter within. She had decided to make him suffer for the suffering he had caused her, but it was only a moment until she was weeping on his shoulder.

"Oh, Arthur, you hurt me so," she sobbed.

"But, honey, don't you know I wouldn't have done it for anything on earth? I've been nearly crazy since I found it out."

Soothing words, the healing power of tears, his caressing arm around her. Peace—joy.

And yesterday was so black.

Central Hudson Reduces Gas Rate

It will be possible for increased numbers of Kingston people to utilize gas for heating their homes this winter because of a reduced domestic gas rate for home heating, J. K. Meehan, district manager of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, announced today.

This voluntary reduction in rate is part of the Central Hudson Company's plan to bring the comfort and convenience of automatic home heating by gas within reach of even the modest home. The demand for gas house heating is opening the largest new market for gas and it is the aim and purpose of the company to stimulate this market with lower rates in order to make this remarkable advance in the science of heat engineering available to the greatest number of people.

This is the third voluntary reduction in the cost of gas for home heating since 1926 and has been made possible by the increasing acceptance of this heating method which assures a constant temperature in the home regardless of outside weather conditions.

GET RID OF INDIGESTION IN A FEW MINUTES, OR Get Your Money Back

"Bismuth" and milk of magnesia only make your indigestion worse in most cases, for they weaken the digestive acid in your stomach, so it cannot digest your food properly. Pepto-Bismol does not upset your stomach. It relieves indigestion gently in a few minutes by keeping the scouring of food in your stomach and the decay of food in your bowels. The medicine in Pepto-Bismol which stops vomiting and decay, are four of the finest medicines known to physicians. Read them on the bottle. Also, Pepto-Bismol is not a patent medicine. It is a prescription by The Norwich Pharmacal Company, whose Coughing and who have been in the business of preparing medicines for nearly 50 years.

If Pepto-Bismol does not get rid of your indigestion, distress after eating, heartburn and sour, acid stomach, in a few minutes get your money back from your druggist. Boldly show Pepto-Bismol to him. From life.

But don't be short-sighted and merely ask your druggist for "something for indigestion." Ask him for Pepto-Bismol by name. Look for the name Pepto-Bismol on the bottle. Before the unfair offer of "something just as good" which may harm, instead of help your digestion. Ask for Pepto-Bismol by name and get what you ask for.

The medicine in Pepto-Bismol which stops vomiting and decay, are four of the finest medicines known to physicians. Read them on the bottle. Also, Pepto-Bismol is not a patent medicine. It is a prescription by The Norwich Pharmacal Company, whose Coughing and who have been in the business of preparing medicines for nearly 50 years.

If Pepto-Bismol does not get rid of your indigestion, distress after eating, heartburn and sour, acid stomach, in a few minutes get your money back from your druggist. Boldly show Pepto-Bismol to him. From life.

But don't be short-sighted and merely ask your druggist for "something for indigestion." Ask him for Pepto-Bismol by name. Look for the name Pepto-Bismol on the bottle. Before the unfair offer of "something just as good" which may harm, instead of help your digestion. Ask for Pepto-Bismol by name and get what you ask for.
